

The thinking process: every step was forced by the data, including killing our own wins

